DANCING TEACHER SEEKS DAMAGES.

Miss Sophia M. Hamant, a dancing teacher, filed suit in the Common Pleas Court yesterday demanding $5,000 damages from Frank A. Huckle, of Norwood, for injuries she claims she sustained September 30. She states that she was riding in an automobile on Reading road near Mann place, when Huckle's automobile delivery wagon was swerved directly in front of the machine in which she was riding. The result, she says, was her auto collided with an electric light pole and she was thrown against the windshield, her head being cut and her knees and hips bruised.—Sunday's Enquirer.

Miss Hamant is well known in this city, having had charge of the "Kirk's" entertainment given here several months ago and is at present conducting a dancing class here.

"CHICKEN JOHN" ARRESTED

Monday afternoon, Chief of Police James Mackey and Officer William Toile arrested "Chicken" or "Hoggy" John Lewis, on the charge of chicken stealing. It is said that Lewis stole a fine rooster from a gentleman of the county and offered it for sale to Marion Moore, the Wall street grocer. Mr. Moore was a bit uneasy as to the rightful owner of the fowl and Chief of Police Mackey and his force investigated with the above result. Lewis has just been released from the county jail on the charge of stealing chickens, having been convicted at the last term of the Mason Circuit Court and given a sentence of thirty days.

While in the county jail his actions were very queer at times and it was thought that he was subjected to spells of insanity, but nothing was done in the matter, for when questioned he gave very rational answers. However, at the time of his arrest he talked seemingly out of his head, and no doubt he will be tried before County Judge W. H. Rice on the charge of insanity.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

The revival services at the Third Street M. E. church began Monday night, with Rev. D. Wendell Brown, the "mountain evangelist," doing the preaching.

Rev. Brown spoke upon "Witnessing For Christ." He drove the truths home in a most convincing manner.

Some who heard him say he is on the order of "Billy" Sunday. Rev. Brown made a good impression upon his audience and all felt that the series of meetings had opened with the spirit of true fellowship with the Master.

Make your arrangements to attend these meetings. You will do good and get good.

HUNTING A-PLenty THIS SEASON.

From reports of those who took advantage of the opening of the hunting season Monday, there will be no scarcity of rabbits this year. Almost all who were returned home with a large number of pelts tied to their belts, while several had birds in goodly numbers to their credit. The residents of Maysville have taken to hunting more than ever, which has caused County Clerk James J. Owens and his deputy to be quite busy the last few days issuing licenses to the nimrods. More than 100 were issued in three days.

POLICE COURT.

Judge John L. Whitaker had three old standbys as subjects Monday afternoon and disposed of them in the following manner:

Jefferson Davis Clayton, drunk, $5.50.

Thomas Wright, drunk, $6.50.

John Stacey, drunk and disorderly, $8.50.

GOOD DAY'S WORK

For Chamber of Commerce—Total Memberships Now 270, Meaning $3,750 a Year.

ORGANIZATION MEETING CALLED THIS WEEK.

The Chamber of Commerce canvass teams had another successful day yesterday. Forty-seven members were added, making the total 270, which means a yearly income of $3,750. This is fine work, but it can be made $4,500 with proper response on the part of those who are hanging back.

The eight teams will be in the field again today, and they deserve prompt and encouraging responses from all they visit. Help them make the last day of the whirlwind campaign a banner one. Do your part. Remember, each membership swells the total. Don't hang back "waiting to see if it is going to be a go." Jump in and help make it a go.

The organization meeting will be held on Thursday or Friday night of this week to adopt a constitution, elect officers and adopt a program of work. If you are a member, and have not sent back "Referendum No. 1 and No. 2, nomination of officers and suggestion as to work to be done, do so at once. The information is needed in advance of the organization meeting.

At the luncheon meeting yesterday, with all the team workers present, a rising vote of thanks was tendered the three daily papers of Maysville for their splendid support and publicity given the Chamber of Commerce campaign.

THE HUNTER'S PROBLEM

Don't Mistake English Pheasant For Quail. As They Closely Resemble.

(Courier-Journal.) Many men are mistaken for deer and shot during the annual open season for deer in the Adirondacks and elsewhere, although the resemblance between the hunter and the quarry is not to persons who haven't the buck-ague, especially striking.

In Kentucky this year the hunter must learn to know an English pheasant when he sees it. If he mistakes the pheasant for a quail—and pheasants and quail are somewhat more alike than one's two-legged hunting companion and a four-legged deer with spreading antlers and a white "flag"—he subjects himself to the possibility of prosecution. Quail may be shot, in season. There is no open season for English pheasants. To ornithologists pheasants and quail are no more alike than two women of dissimilar stature, carriage and plumage. But the excited huntsman may make mistakes. And the huntsman who is perfectly aware of the difference between the bird in sight and the quail he might legally kill will plead confusion and error when caught with an English pheasant in his game bag. The law makes no allowance for a lack of knowledge or confusion. It simply provides that if a hunter kills a pheasant, as a measure necessary for their protection until the State shall be stocked sufficiently to admit of their being killed without exterminating the birds that have been set at large to propagate.

The fish and game law provides that any one who hunts upon the property of another without permission of the land owner may be prosecuted. It is no longer necessary to have land posted. The absence of the "posted" sign does not mean that the land may be hunted over without permission. The possession of a license to hunt does not give its holder any right to hunt any where without the permission of the owner of the land.

The Kentucky hunter must first get his license, then get permission from property owners and then be on guard against the temptation to shoot before determining the bird within range is a protected variety. These requirements reflect an effort upon the part of a majority of sportsmen to breed game in Kentucky. They will be regarded by all sportsmen, despite any inconvenience they may cause. Game wardens will be upon the alert to discover any one who may not regard them.

THESE ARE SOME FLOWERS.

Imagine a bush chrysanthemum seventeen feet in diameter and six feet high, with 1,500 yellow blooms upon it. Such a plant has the place of honor at this year's exhibition of the New York Horticultural Society, having been taken to the city of New York from a Hudson river estate, where it is the pride of its owner and grower. Such a prodigy, if grown in southern California, would not be so surprising. One of the debts owed by the Occident to the Orient is the cultivation of this autumn flower, originally brought to Europe from China, but better known now in varieties first bred in Japan. With such ample resources available to American tourists and owners of estates it is not surprising that records are being broken by them.—Exchange.

In this same connection, Mr. C. P. Dieterich called our attention to a big chrysanthemum grown on the estate of Aloph Lewishon, Ardley, N. Y., and on display in the Floral Exhibit at Cleveland, O. The gigantic chrysanthemum is fifty feet in circumference and has 1,200 blooms. It took a squad of policemen to act as a guard from the depot to the Coliseum.

OWED $20,000, COULD COLLECT ONLY $10,000.

In the Bourbon Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Stout handed down a decision in the cases of Joseph A. Wilson and E. B. Sparks against the George Alexander & Company Bank. Mr. Joseph A. Wilson $20,000 and from Mr. E. B. Sparks $15,000 and executed to them the notes of the George Alexander & Company Bank. Judge Stout decided that the plaintiffs could each file a claim for $10,000, against the bank, the charter of the bank providing that it could not incur an indebtedness in excess of $10,000.

OLDEST MEMBER OF BAR CRITICALLY ILL.

Colonel N. R. Salyer, of Whitesburg, who is probably the oldest member of the bar in Kentucky, is critically ill at his home. Colonel Salyer was a lieutenant colonel in the Confederate army, and has been a practitioner in Eastern Kentucky since the Civil war. He is about 90 years of age. His father, Captain Salyer, of Virginia, died three years ago, at the age of 110 years, and possessed remarkably activity up to within two weeks of his death.

The many friends of Mr. George T. McLaughlin will be sorry to know that he is seriously ill at his home, on the Mt. Carmel pike.—[The Gretna Green please copy.]

ALLEGED MURDERER ARRESTED HERE

John Irvin, Wanted in Lewis County On Wilful Murder Charge, Arrested By Local Police.

Monday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock Officer William Toile, of the local police force, arrested John Irvin, of Lewis county, on a bench warrant charging him with wilful murder. Irvin and Pace Kennedy are the men who were indicted at the last term of the Lewis County Circuit Court on the charge of wilful murder, they being charged with shooting Raymond Hildebrand, who was found by his wife at their home in Lewis county, shot through the head and lying in a pool of blood during the latter part of August.

Since the shooting the above mentioned men have been at large. Irvin, when questioned, said that he did not know anything about the murder, but had been staying at a farm in this county for several months. He was placed in jail until Jailer Sullivan of Lewis county, arrived here and took him back to Vanceburg on C. & O. train No. 16. He will be held until the next term of the Lewis Circuit Court.

ANNUAL BARREL OPENING.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church will give their annual "barrel opening" social on Wednesday evening, November 17, at 6:30 o'clock in the lecture room. All members of the church and congregation are cordially invited to come and bring their barrel. If you have no barrel, put your offering in an envelope. Come and enjoy a feast of reason and flow of soul.

ARRESTED AT L. & N. STATION.

Monday afternoon, Officer Dudley Fizer arrested a man from the wild and woolly sticks about Ewing, at the L. & N. station, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. When the officer arrived on the scene the whole world and the box it came in belonged to the Fleming county men, but they soon changed their tune when placed under arrest and begged to be let go to their homes.

Mr. L. M. Cavendish, who has been spending several weeks at various health resorts, has returned home, much improved in health.

Rev. J. M. Evans and wife left Tuesday morning for Houston, Texas, where they will spend the winter with relatives.

COUNTY TAKES CHARGE OF THE MORGAN FAMILY.

Monday afternoon on the order of County Judge W. H. Rice, the family of Oscar Morgan, held in the county jail on a serious charge, was taken to the Mason County Infirmary, east of this city. Since the head of the family has been incarcerated, the family has been without a breadwinner, and was in destitute circumstances when the county authorities came to its relief.

They will be cared for by Superintendent Flosser of the infirmary, until the father is disposed of. The trial of Morgan is set for Saturday, when it is said something of a sensational nature will develop.

TRIAL CONTINUED UNTIL SATURDAY.

The trial of Emmitt Dodson, aged 23, of the county, who is charged with a serious crime, which was to have been held Monday afternoon, was continued until Saturday, as several of the witnesses were not present. This is the second time that this trial has been delayed on account of the witnesses not being present, and Squire Fred W. Bauer notified both sides that the next witness who was absent would be confined in the county jail for contempt of court.

Mrs. Martha Bailey and son, Myron, of Covington, Ky., are visiting her parents, on the Mt. Carmel pike, as very father, Mr. G. T. McLaughlin, is very ill.

Mrs. Nannie Dawson and grandson, Arvil, of Newport, are visiting Mrs. Currie Breede.

A JUST TRIBUTE.

The Louisville Times which did perhaps more than any other paper in Kentucky to aid in the election of A. O. Stanley as Governor, in its issue of Friday, November 12, pays the following tribute to our defeated chieftain, Edwin P. Morrow:

"EDWIN P. MORROW."

Edwin P. Morrow is a fair fighter, a game loser and a good Kentuckian.

"His campaign for the office of Governor was pitched on a high plane. There was no personal abuse of opponents, no appeal to prejudice. He lost out by the narrowest of margins to the strongest man the Democrats were able to put into the field against him.

"In his open letter published today, Mr. Morrow accepts the result, rejects the temptation to a contest, which the closeness of the vote offers, declaring that he places the State's good before his personal ambition. The one prediction in which he indulges is that there will be enacted an anti-lobby law, a corrupt practices act, a scientific and equitable tax law, and in all the departments of State there will be an awakening and a guard placed over the people's money. That prediction can have but one meaning, that the solid support of the Republicans in the General Assembly will be back of measures looking to these ends. To them Mr. Stanley and the Democratic majority are likewise committed. There can be no turning back.

"Throughout the campaign, the Times recognized in Mr. Morrow an able and honorable opponent. The issue was political not personal. The high measure of respect for him as a political antagonist is but increased by the manner of his withdrawal from the field of politics. It can but be believed that that withdrawal is temporary.

"The Eleventh District needs him as its Representative in Congress. And it might as well be confessed that, if he should take the notion four years from now again to be a candidate for Governor there might be another story to tell. Unless, that is, the Democrats give the State so good an administration that no man can successfully challenge its record, and thus the Times confidently looks forward to."

This, coming from the Times, is a good sign, and shows Kentucky is getting away from the old-time method of political mud-slinging, which is fast sinking into oblivion. So might it be.

The Republicans know Morrow, and selected him as their standard-bearer, because he was a gentleman of the highest type and in every way qualified to fill the high office of Governor.

Mr. Morrow by his conduct in the recent campaign and his yielding gracefully to the defeat which beset him, has made thousands upon thousands of friends in Kentucky, and has endeared himself to the hearts of all.

Would that all political campaigns could end so harmoniously.

A Lesson from the Past

Years ago, before baking powders were so well known, the housewife sometimes made her own from cream of tartar and soda.

These materials were then comparatively expensive and processes of refining had not been devised to bring them to the high state of purity of the present-day well known cream of tartar baking powders, such as Royal; and yet she never thought of buying alum, then as now a cheap and inferior substitute for cream of tartar. She wouldn't think of permitting an ounce of alum to enter her kitchen.

Yet housekeepers are to-day asked to buy alum baking powders with which to make food for their children.

The statement on the label affixed to every can naming the ingredients of which the baking powder is composed affords a method of protection against the use of undesirable kinds.

Slipshod Advertising

A group of newspaper men got to talking the other day, about their experiences in dealing with merchants in the matter of advertising. The story was told of one merchant who used to say that it never paid for an individual merchant to advertise. He admitted that it might pay for the entire body of merchants in a town to get together and advertise so as to attract the attention of the surrounding country. But he never believed he could draw trade from less enterprising men by his own individual advertising.

A little inquiry about this man's business gave some significant facts. In spite of his protestations, he did a very considerable amount of advertising. He made it a habit to keep a file of the home newspapers. Every week when he was taking space, he would clip out his advertisement of the previous year, or some year previous to that, make some slight changes, and send the slightly revised old copy as his notice for the current insertion. He paid good money for it, too. He appreciated the value of timeliness.

enough so that for November, 1915, he would want an ad written for some previous November. But that was all.

This merchant would go along from year to year, often not buying any new stock in many of his lines. He argued that the old stuff was just as good as when he bought it. Why should not the public be satisfied with it? He had a fairly good trade, in spite of his slow methods. The space he took in the newspapers was carefully read and had some effect. Probably a great many people were not conscious of the fact that it was old copy.

These notices missed the fundamental principle in advertising, that advertising is news, and should appeal to the public hunger for news by telling what special values have turned up in the store. It is not surprising that he was not wholly satisfied with his results. Yet even at that, and with all his unprogressive ways, it is interesting that he did not dare to let his advertising drop, and had a blind faith that any old kind of a notice would help him.

"My husband has given me a checking account."

"Isn't that lovely? Now you can buy anything you want and just write out a check for it."

"Yes. I'm rather sorry on one account, though. It seems such a lot of trouble to have to write out a check for one's car fare, especially when the car is crowded or when you have to pay as you enter."

Awkward.

"I am pleased to meet you again," he said.

"Thank you," replied the lady, who had once been his wife.

"How are the children?"

"What children?"

"We never had any."

"Oh, I beg your pardon. It was very stupid of me. I mistook you for some one else."

The world likes to be amused. This is the reason why all the world loves a lover.

COST OF ROAD CONSTRUCTION

Much Depends on Amount and Character of Grading Necessary—Other Factors Considered.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The cost of a road is dependent upon not only the type of construction, but the amount and character of grading to be done, the cost of labor and materials, the width and thickness of surfacing, the character and amount of drainage required, and other factors of equal variability. Based upon general averages, it has been ascertained by highway specialists of the United States department of agriculture that under average conditions macadam roads can be built in southern states at from $4,000 to $5,000 per mile, gravel roads at from $1,500 to $2,500 per mile, and sand-clay and top-soil roads at from $800 to $1,500 per mile. In New England and the other eastern states, macadam roads are reported at from $6,000 to $9,000 per mile, gravel roads at from $3,200 to $5,000, and bituminous macadam from $8,000 to $12,000, according to the character of construction, whether surface-treated, penetration, or milling method. The bituminous type is quite general in the eastern states. As indicating costs in other sections of country, the state highway commissioner of Michigan reported in 1913 the average cost for macadam roads $4,300 per mile, clay-gravel roads $1,500 per mile, and concrete roads about $10,000 per mile. The average cost of state highways constructed in Ohio in 1913 was $8,353. According to types in 1912, the brick-paved highways averaged $14,650 per mile and the macadam highways $5,950. In California the first 356 miles of the state system of highways cost an average of $5,143 per mile and consisted principally of thin concrete with a thin coat of bitumen. The maximum and minimum figures given in this paragraph are not absolute, but are intended to present the usual range of costs. The rates given include grading, drainage, surfacing, and engineering costs.

BOOSTER FOR BETTER ROADS

Cost of Transportation of Produce to Market is Lessened—Ditch, Drain and Drag Roads.

Good roads not only cheapen the cost of transporting farm produce to market, but make the country a desirable place to live in.

We hear much talk about federal aid for good roads, yet if we wait for this movement to crystallize into a reality, the people of the country will be riding in mud for some time to come. The thing to do is to take off coats and buckle into a plan for local road improvement. Be a booster for the grading of roads and follow up the work with the King road drag for maintenance.

The principle of all good roads in all States is the same, viz., keeping the water out and off of the roadbeds. Ditch, drain and drag the roads. This is the tripod of good road building.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS

Scarcely Secondary to Rail Transportation in Their Far-reaching Effect on Civilization.

The two great necessities of modern life are education and transportation, for civilization travels in the wake of good schools and good roads. Good roads lead in more good directions than the most far-seeing can contemplate. Commerce begins on the country roads and byways; they affect school attendance and literacy; they control markets and prices, values of land, the development and contentment of the people, the cost and pleasure of living, and are scarcely secondary to rail transportation in their far-reaching effect. They determine the character and growth of the community, and the necessity for them cannot be overestimated, for a country that isn't worth a good road isn't worth living in.

Idaho Boosts Good Roads.

The Southern Idaho Motor association was perfected at Boise, Idaho, for the purpose of making a good roads campaign in southern Idaho. This marks an important step toward giving impetus to the good roads movement in the state.

Keep Weeds Down.

It does not take long to mow the growth along the roadside, ditch banks and fence rows. You could do it going to and from the fields oftener, or when you have an hour to spare.

ITEMS FROM ALL AROUND

Sterilizing Water.

(Danville Advocate.)
Superintendent H. E. Woolfolk, of the Water Works, has installed a sterilizing outfit at the plant. All water is now thoroughly sterilized as it is pumped into the standpipe.

Tall Young Men.

(Winchester Sun.)
Henry Santen, a traveling salesman, of Paris, has three sons whose combined height is 19 feet 11 inches. The youngest of the boys is 17 years old, while the oldest is just past 22. Bernard, the oldest, measures 6 feet 3 1/2 inches, while Henry, the youngest, is 6 feet 2 inches. Herman, aged 19 years, is the tallest of the three sons, and measures 6 feet 5 1/2 inches in his stocking feet. The average height is 6 feet 2-3 inches.

His Ear Bitten Off.

(Cadiz Record.)
Louis Wood, a negro of the town, happened to the misfortune last Thursday of getting at least half of one ear bitten entirely off. The negro was attending the horse of George L. Smith, and the animal seemed to be fretted that he was being interfered with while eating. Throwing his head to one side, the horse grabbed at the negro's ear and bit it off. The wound was quite painful, but the negro seems to have suffered no great pain as a result. The disconnected member was never found, and it is probable that the horse swallowed it.

Generous Spirit.

(Owen County Democrat.)
Col. R. B. Brown, of Warsaw, who owns two automobiles, says he will give $1,000 to the roads in his county if the good roads movement will be put on foot. What say the automobile owners of Owen?

Vicious Worm.

(Owenton News-Herald.)
Dr. Elliott brought to this office Friday a worm which he found in a head of cabbage. The worm was two inches long when in a coil, but when stretched out measured four inches in length. It was very vicious and showed fight when captured by rearing up on the tip of its tail and fighting like a large reptile. The cabbage was not grown in Owen county.

Cockleburrs As Cowfeed.

(State Journal.)
A cow on a Hart county farm died mysteriously and a post-mortem examination showed that she had a large mass of cockleburrs in her stomach. The difficulty of making a comfortable cud of a ball of cockleburrs would be apparent to a majority of ruminant animals. A cow must be hard pushed indeed when she tries such a diet. There's an old story about the man who had almost taught his horse to live on shavings when the horse died. Was the Hart county cow owner trying to teach Bossy to subsist on cockleburrs?

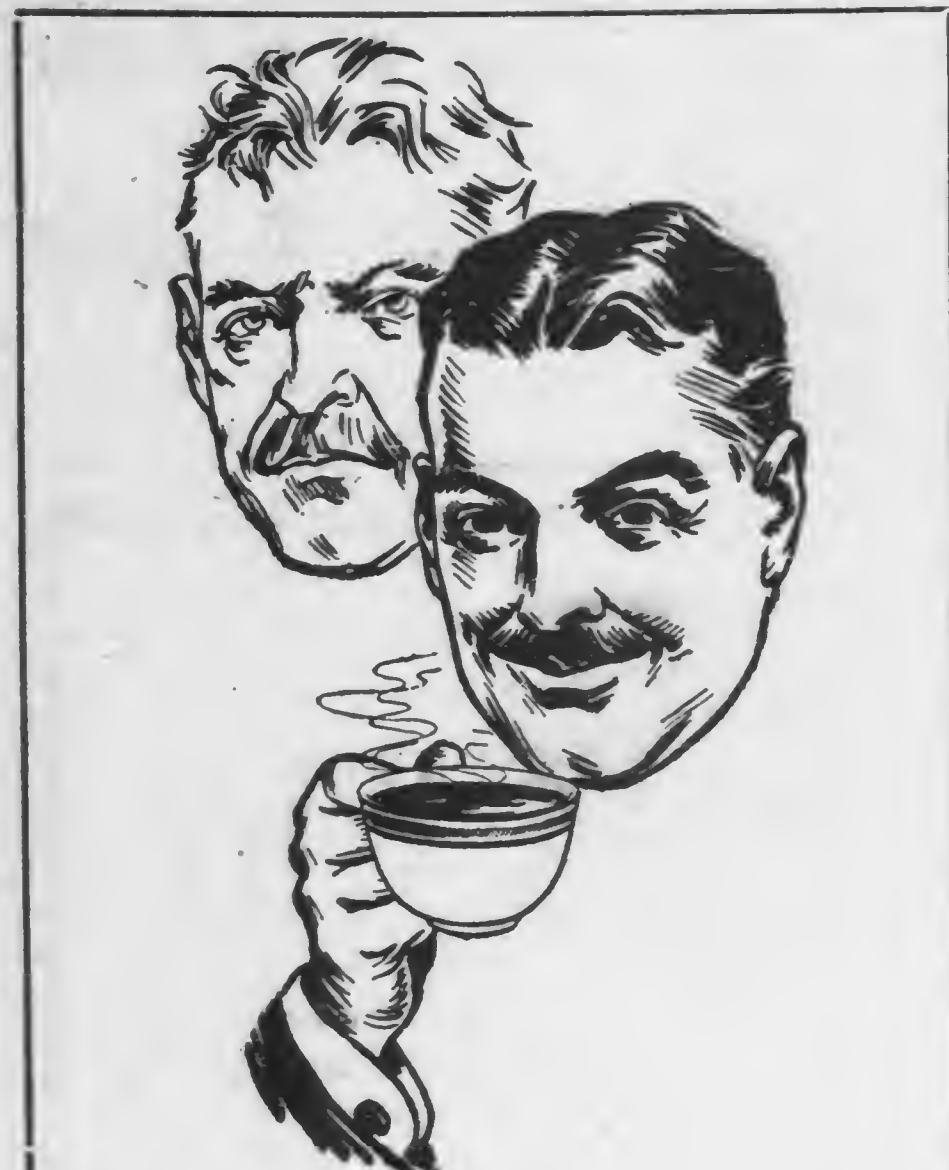

SEABOARD STOCKHOLDERS MEET.

Puts Another Face on It

Many a man jauntily takes his cup or two of coffee at a meal and declares that coffee doesn't hurt him!

But wait until the poisonous drug, caffeine, in the coffee begins to show its cumulative effects, and puts a different face on the proposition.

It's a fact anyone can verify, that caffeine hardens the arteries, brings on premature old age, and sallows and wrinkles the skin. Some of the signs are headache, irritability, biliousness, heart flutter, sleeplessness, dizziness, "fag," and so on.

The way out is to quit coffee, and for a pleasant, healthful beverage use

HINTS FOR THE HOME COOK

Advice That Is the Result of Combined Experience of Practical Housekeepers.

A little grape juice, beaten egg white, added to remanade forms a delicious, healthful drink.
Taco minis are good boiled with cabbage, string or soup beans.
Fruit cooked in the oven after soaking over night, seasoned and sweetened to taste, are much richer than if stewed.

Air blowing on bread sponge will keep it from rising and may spoil it entirely.

If eggs are boiled in salted water the shells will peel easily.
A generous pinch of salt added to flour for thickening, before mixing with water, tends to keep it from being lumpy.

When roasting a fowl stuff the breast with pared and cut up sweet potatoes; the flavor is surprising.
When separating whites and yolks of eggs a speck of yolk slips into the white; to remove this easily, dip a clean cloth into warm water, wring dry, touch the speck with the end of this and it will cling to it.

Vegetables to be cooked by boiling should be put into boiling water, as little as possible, and if the water is added let it be boiling hot. Steam is best for most vegetables.

DRYING WITHOUT USE OF IRON

Curtains May Be Turned Out in First-Class Shape If These Methods Are Employed.

Place two extension brackets on the wall about six feet apart and seven feet from the floor. If wall is plastered, he sure they are in a stud. In the baseboard, directly under each bracket, place a screw hook with the hook turned down. (Those which come with curtain rods are best). Get two narrow slats about six feet long from a carpenter shop. Wash curtains, and while wet run one slat through frill and place on brackets. Run other slat through hem and catch under lower hooks. Pull them on slats slightly and they will dry in beautiful folds. They cannot stretch, and require no ironing, not even the edging. Lower hooks may be adjusted if curtains are not all one length.

Bleaching Linen.

The lines of olden days were handed down from mother to daughter, but such is far from being the case today, owing to the difference in bleaching. Where formerly it took months of sunshine and rain to bring about the desired whiteness, now it is done in two or three days by means of strong mineral gases whose fumes bleach, according to their strength, more or less quickly. So it is not a poor idea to buy linen which is not yet bleached white, as a few trips to the laundry will remedy this, and in addition it is cheaper, for the bleaching process is a costly one. Then, too, the use of tablecloths and sheets would be lengthened, appreciably, since over-bleaching rots the fibers. This is why houses seem to melt away in spots.

Rich Bride Cake.

Take four pounds sifted flour, four pounds of sweet fresh butter, beaten to a cream, and two pounds of white powdered sugar. Take six eggs for each pound of flour, an ounce of ground mace or nutmeg and a tablespoonful of lemon extract or orange flower water. A very pretty way in which to present pieces of this cake to your guests is to cut out each piece in the shape of a heart, and put on each separate piece the initial, in frosting, of each guest to whom the cake is to be given. Present the cake in either pink gilt-edged, heart-shaped boxes, or, if you cannot go to the expense of having the boxes made, wrap the pieces in frilled tissue paper, tied with dainty pink silk baby ribbon.

Jellied Grapes.

A very delicate dish is made of one-third of a cupful of rice, two cupfuls of grapes, one-half cupful of water and two spoonfuls of sugar. Sprinkle the sugar and sugar among the grapes while placing them in a deep dish; pour on the water, cover close and simmer two hours slowly in oven. Serve warm as a sauce, or cold, as a pudding. If served warm, increase slightly the proportion of rice and sugar.

Ham for Breakfast.

Fried ham for breakfast is particularly nice when the slices are cut the night before and are allowed to soak all night in a cupful of water, to which a tablespoonful of sugar has been added. This softens the meat and takes out the oppressive salt taste.

Mother's Ginger snaps.

One cupful shortening, one cupful sugar, one cupful molasses, one heaping tablespoonful ginger, and a heaping teaspoonful of soda dissolved in very little warm water. Flour to roll out, the less the better.

Rice and Cheese.

Instead of the usual macaroni-and-cheese dish, try substituting rice for the macaroni. It will be found a decided and a nice change from the macaroni. Boil the rice and have it quite firm.

Ginger Puffs.

One cupful sugar, one cupful molasses, one-half cupful butter, one tablespoonful ginger, one egg, one tablespoonful soda, one cupful water, four cupfuls flour, a little salt. Bake in gem pans.

Every married man knows that the perfume other women use smells better than the kind his wife uses.

BLIND ALUMNI IN RETIION.

Pittsburg, Pa., November 15.—Many graduates who are "making good" in their life work in various spheres of usefulness returned today to Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their school. A reception and open house will be a feature of the day. Many of the blind graduates have made fortunes, scores are practical business men and women.

William H. Long, director of the workshop for the blind in Pittsburg, was the first student enrolled, and he will make a speech. Miss Jennie Snyder, of Apollo, Pa., is a stenographer and a maker of fancy work. A half dozen of the returning alumni are pianos. Miss May H. Levy, of Crafton, is assistant to the director of the kindergarten at the institution. Miss Jean Cowan owns and operates a large ranch in Montana. She took a large government tract for a home and has improved the property. Frank Gaston conducts and owns a grocery and confectionery store in Newcastle. Miss Bertha May Johnston is a home teacher for the blind. Morris Bundy is an evangelist and Stephen Huff is a life insurance agent. Miss Jennie Johnston is a teacher in the Nebraska School for the Blind. Miss Minnie Smith owns a store in Salem, Ore. Miss Mattie Davis, a Syrian girl, is teaching a mission school in Jerusalem. John T. Taylor conducts a boarding school in Detroit.

There are 57,272 blind persons in the United States, according to the last census, and the equipping of the handicapped here is a message of hope to them. It is also pointed out from the statistics that blindness is decreasing among the younger Americans in the last half century. It is also a fact that the affliction is more prevalent among men than among women. Several thousand blind persons have already become self-supporting by instruction at institutions throughout the country.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes M. S. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health. If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

LAUNCH GREAT INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY.

New Orleans, La., November 15.—With the foundation here today of the Jefferson Highway Association, a movement was launched to construct another great North-and-South international roadway, from New Orleans to Winnipeg. The route will be through States west of the Mississippi river.

All of the States through which the highway will run are represented at today's meeting here, and Winnipeg has sent its envoys to aid in the planning of the big project.

Arkansas, Texas, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and other States have endorsed the project. While the actual route of the highway has not been selected, that being a matter which will be handled by the association, it developed today that some excellent stretches of roadway running north and south can be connected with new links into a through highway.

The good roads advocates which gathered here today will hold discussions all today and tomorrow, and will outline the project for submission to the State governments between here and Canada.

OPENS BIDS FOR TWO NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, November 16.—Bids for the construction of two new battleships authorized by the last Congress will be opened at the Navy Department here today. The cost of each vessel exclusive of armor and armament is limited to $7,000,000. The new war vessels will displace 32,000 tons each. They will each have four submerged torpedo tubes, second batteries and twenty-two by-inch guns and four three-inch rifles for repelling air attacks. They will be 624 feet over all, breadth ninety-seven feet, eight inches and draw thirty feet of water.

The new vessels will be the largest and most powerful warships ever designed for the American navy, and in addition to formidable main batteries of twelve fourteen-inch guns each, will be provided with new safeguards against torpedo attack. The nature of this invention adopted to protect the dreadnaughts from torpedoes is not given out, but it is known that the lessons learned from the European war have been given careful consideration by the navy's experts who developed the device.

Most men get married before they are old enough to know better.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches and Pains of Maysville People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and generally when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Maysville testimony is proof of their effectiveness.

Do you know that YOU might just as well have a large percentage of this business? And do you know that this business is SPOT CASH because the people HAVE THE MONEY and are NOT AFRAID TO SPEND IT?

Do you know that to get this business you must FIRST REACH THE PEOPLE and let them know WHAT YOU HAVE?

Do you know that there is no other paper published that reaches these people as thoroughly and as effectively and with as tight a grip as THE PUBLIC LEDGER does?

The buyers in this community are an intelligent class of people, and they insist on knowing something about the goods before they part with their money.

Your advertisement in THE LEDGER will appeal to them because it is THEIR OWN PAPER, and because they KNOW that we do not accept questionable advertisements at any price.

The holiday season, a harvest for merchants, is now on and our people will be buying in large quantities.

Because we feel that you are keen on getting a goodly slice of this business a representative of THE LEDGER will take the liberty of calling upon you within a few days, at which time he will illustrate to you more fully the advantages to be derived from placing a portion of your holiday advertising before a class of people who buy liberally and have the money with which to pay.

THE DEFICIENCY OF RAIN.

The beginning of the breaking of the autumn drought in Kentucky is not too late for fall sown crops to be greatly benefited, especially crops grown for pasture. It will also be appreciated by the farmers who have in many instances been hauling water for stock at a season at which the brooks are running full to the brim. There was a deficiency of nine inches in rainfall for the nine months ending November 1. In other words not more than three-fourths of a normal rainfall occurred. The early summer showers were numerous, but at no time reached the average precipitation for that season, and September and October were almost rainless.

A rainy season will be needed to replenish the sources of water supply and to produce the great crop of wheat that has been planted. "Melancholy" days, to some persons, are rainy days to agricultural interests. Many of them are needed before April in Kentucky.

SUFFRAGISTS TAKE "LITTLE WHITE HOUSE"

Cameron house, in Washington, sometimes called the "little white house," because so many famous people have occupied it, which has been rented by the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage as its headquarters for the great suffrage rally to be held in Washington beginning the day congress convenes and lasting for a week or more. This house is just across Lafayette square from the White House. The "little white house" will be the scene of many conferences, mass meetings and social functions during suffrage week, and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, whose portrait is inserted, has already arranged to hold a big reception there on the evening of the day that congress convenes.

LEWIS, REPUBLICAN,

May Be Elected Secretary of State—Leads Hamlett in the Present Count.

Frankfort, Ky., November 15.—With McCracken county out, J. P. Lewis, Republican, leads Barksdale Hamlett, Democrat, for Secretary of State, 412 votes.

According to the tabulation in the office of Secretary of State, his lead is only 210; but the tabulation does not include a recertification of 101 votes for Lewis in McCracken, a recertification, making a gain of ninety-one for Lewis in Hart, and a correction noting Lewis ten in Shelby.

Failure to include these recertifications indicate that the Democrats will endeavor to prevent their being counted by the State Board of Election Commissioners, who will meet November 22. If they are counted Lewis will win, if not, Hamlett will.

The McCracken county commissioners, all three signing it, certify that 101 votes for Lewis in Cumberland Falls precinct were unintentionally omitted in the original certification, and 103 for Walker in Whitley precinct No. 3.

The recertification from Hart was made under an order of the court, but it is probable that the Democrats will claim that order embraced only the Governor's race.

RAPS PRESIDENT

And Loses His Job—Illinois Postmaster Said Wilson's Remarriage Was Entirely Too Sudden.

Washington, November 15.—A statement was issued at the White House saying that the action of Postmaster A. M. Kloepper, at Winnetka, Ill., in removing his assistant from office because he criticized President Wilson's engagement to be married was taken "without the authority or knowledge of the President."

Published reports brought the incident to the attention of White House officials, and at the same time it was learned that the dismissed assistant postmaster, George Kurkitt, had vainly appealed to the Postoffice Department to overrule his superior.

Postmaster Kloepper, according to published correspondence, called upon Kurkitt to explain a remark credited to him that the President should wait at least a year before remarrying.

Kurkitt admitted making the statement in the course of a general conversation in the postoffice, but denied being guilty of any disrespect. Then the postmaster, charging him with disloyalty and calling his attention to demerits placed against his record for "unsatisfactory service," asked for his resignation.

In appealing to the Postoffice Department Kurkitt protested that his removal had been irregular; that no formal charges had been filed against him, and that he had been given no opportunity to reply. Daniel C. Roper, third assistant postmaster general, is said to have replied that the civil service laws had been fully complied with.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM TIES UP STEAMERS ON LAKES.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., November 15.—A heavy snowstorm this forenoon compelled about fifty vessels to tie up in the river here and detain, but it abated considerably by noon and several of the freighters continued their trips. All down-bound boats today reported rough weather on Lake Superior.

The Herwind and Baker arrived leaking through their seams. The Herwind was also coated with ice.

A large number of upbound steamers are said to have cleared from White Fish bay, where they have been in shelter during the day. Several, however, still are waiting for clearer weather.

DOG TRAILS SNAKES

Same As It Does Animals—Pike County, Ohio, Man Tells of a Remarkable Dog.

Over on Stralt creek in Pike county, Ohio, lives Isaac Wright, who specializes on hunting snakes. In the hills of this county he has experienced many harrowing situations, and to sit and listen to his stories is interesting. Black rattlers, one of the liveliest of all reptiles around here, and Mr. Wright has trained to aid him a dog, which actually trails snakes, the same as other dogs do rabbits or coons.

"While out in the woods recently," said Mr. Wright, "I noticed that my dog was on the trail of something. I followed him as fast as I could and after a mile chase we came upon a giant rattlesnake. My dog never kills a snake unless I urge him on, which I never do. I looked this snake over and decided that I would capture him alive. In order to do this I made a running noose out of a piece of stout twine which I carried, and tying the other end of the twine to a pole, I approached the rattler. It lay spread out on the ground with its head raised in the air. Carefully the noose was adjusted about its neck and with a jerk he was a prisoner. I then firmly grasped his snakeship behind the head and releasing the noose, carried him home with me. The snake is dead now. It measured four and a half feet in length and contained nine rattles and a button, as some people call them."

The famous $250,000 swimming pool and palm garden of Edward L. Doheny's town house in Los Angeles were used in the latest Bosworth photo comedy, "Nearly a Lady," which stars Elsie Janis. Many of the palms were importations from the Doheny plantation properties in old Mexico, and have rare tropical beauty. Elsie Janis, by the way, shows a mighty good stroke in her swimming stunts in the marble pool, and Owen Moore's exploit in rescuing her from drowning is a first-class exhibition of expert swimming, too.

The report of President Herrmann of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, showed that while weather conditions for the last season were the worst in the history of the club that the loss in operation amounted to only $5,400. The report also showed that interests on all bonds and loans had been paid.
